Forty years ago a child with leukemia had a 15% chance of surviving six months.

Today a child with leukemia has a 90% chance of being cured, thanks in part to generous people like you.

Advances made at research hospitals like Doernbecher are transforming the fight against cancer in children and young adults. Through the endowment program of The Kiwanis Doernbecher Children's Cancer Program (KDCCP), we're able to provide stable funding to support the treatment, teaching and research efforts leading to the cure of children's cancer. Won't you join Kiwanis members in Oregon and Southwest Washington, who for over twenty years have worked tirelessly to raise funds for this important cause. Together, we're making a difference.
